Specialized training for emergency personnel: use the CED training vest & leg protector for Ruth Lee manikins. Minimize risk of injury and train safely in the use of tasers.

The use of CEDs (Conducted Energy Devices) such as Tasers to immobilize potential offenders is on the rise. Therefore, it is important for officers and security professionals to be trained in the use of Tasers to minimize the risk of injury.

This CED training vest with leg protection can be worn by any adult Ruth Lee mannequin, allowing for repetitive learning to occur while acquiring the necessary skills. The use of a training manikin eliminates the need for personnel in CED suits. The kit is made of flame retardant material that is also used in police ballistic/stab vests. The additional foam provides protective padding to extend the life of the vest and your practice manikin.
