This versatile multi-standard helmet is ideal for forest and wildfire fighting, rescue operations in traffic accidents and current rescuers. With its ergonomic and lightweight construction, it offers outstanding comfort. The helmet meets the highest safety standards and offers full protection in extreme temperatures from -30°C to +50°C. Shock absorption, penetration resistance and resistance to side crushing, liquid chemicals and hot solids are assured. Even short-term contact with electrical lines up to 440 V is warded off. All external helmet panels and chin straps are fire retardant, while the lightweight and durable injection molded shell provides additional protection. The shock-absorbing inner lining ensures excellent safety. The multi-purpose helmet offers connection options for helmet lamps and accessories such as hearing protection and face protection grids. The three-point chin strap with buckle and non-flammable neck protection ensure a comfortable fit and even more safety during your operations.
